

Ratpack Archers Newsletter June 2022

Red Course

The red course has been re-laid. Thanks to all those that helped on the day.

It is not as steep as it used to be, but every set of targets is either an uphill or downhill shot.

We have also made most shots longer than you are used to, with 4 of the shots even longer than you will see on the other 2 courses.

So far we have had a lot of positive feedback from those who have shot it.

AGM / Club Championships / BBQ Sunday 19th June

30 target Ratpack Big Game Special
Green and Blue Courses

As per the email, you should have already let Andy know if you are attending so we can work out numbers for the BBQ.

This event will take most of the day so arrange your Fathers Day activities for the evening

The new totem pole target on red.
One target, three kill zones

Paul has been given a plastic bib to stop him squirting his egg roll down the front of his sweatshirt.

Other News

- 1) The tarpaulin cover on the practise butts has been raised, so you should be able to stand under it and shoot during inclement weather.
- 2) The targets on the practise butts have been changed to the sacks as we were getting through a lot of paper faces each week.
- 3) Steps have now been cut into the bank leading to the long drop loo making it safer to get up / down the slope.
- 4) Some targets have been changed on blue / green courses as they needed repair and re-painting.
